Background and Causes

The late 19th century was a period of intense conflict between Native American tribes and the expanding United States government. After decades of displacement, warfare, and broken treaties, tensions reached a boiling point. The discovery of gold in the Black Hills of South Dakota, sacred land for the Lakota, intensified the conflict, prompting U.S. authorities to push for control over Native territories. Key causes leading up to the battle include: - The encroachment of settlers and prospectors into Native lands - The U.S. government's broken treaties and promises - The Native American tribes' resistance to forced relocation - The formation of the Great Sioux Reservation
