Rival Cosmopolitanisms in Muslim Societies in Asia: An Investigative Perspective In recent decades, the landscapes of Muslim societies across Asia have undergone profound transformations, shaped by diverse visions of cosmopolitanism. These visions—competing, overlapping, and sometimes conflicting—offer insights into how Muslim communities navigate modernity, globalization, tradition, and national identity. The concept of rival cosmopolitanisms captures these pluralistic currents, revealing a multifaceted tapestry of cultural, political, and social aspirations that challenge monolithic narratives of Muslim society in Asia. This article explores the contours of these rival cosmopolitanisms, analyzing their origins, manifestations, and implications for contemporary Muslim societies.

Understanding Cosmopolitanism in Muslim Asia

Cosmopolitanism, broadly defined, refers to an outlook emphasizing global interconnectedness, openness to diverse cultures, and a commitment to universal values. In Muslim societies in Asia, cosmopolitanism manifests uniquely, influenced by religious, historical, and socio-political contexts. These societies have historically been crossroads of trade, culture, and ideas—embodying cosmopolitan traits long before modern definitions emerged. However, the form that cosmopolitanism takes in Muslim Asia is deeply contested. It is not a singular narrative but a spectrum of visions, each rooted in different interpretations of tradition, modernity, and global engagement. These visions often compete for influence within society, shaping policies, educational paradigms, cultural practices, and religious discourses. Two dominant paradigms of cosmopolitanism in Muslim Asia can be broadly identified:

1. Traditional Islamic Cosmopolitanism — rooted in religious and historical continuities emphasizing shared Islamic identity and universal values derived from the Quran and Hadith.
2. Secular/Modernist Cosmopolitanism — aligned with liberal, secular, and often nationalist visions emphasizing scientific rationality, human rights, and globalized modernity. The tension between these paradigms forms the core of the rivalry, with each claiming legitimacy and relevance amid changing social and political conditions.

Historical Foundations of Rival Cosmopolitanisms

Understanding the roots of these rival visions requires a brief exploration of history.

Islamic Cosmopolitanism in the Pre-Modern Era

Historically, Muslim societies in Asia—such as the Ottoman Empire, Mughal India, and the Sultanates of Southeast Asia—embodied cosmopolitan ideals through their diverse populations, complex trade networks, and rich cultural exchanges. Cities like Istanbul, Delhi, and Malacca thrived as centers of learning, trade, and religious pluralism. This era fostered a form of Islamic cosmopolitanism that prioritized universal brotherhood among Muslims, respect for other religions, and engagement with diverse cultures. Sufi orders, for example, played crucial roles in fostering cross-cultural dialogue and spiritual openness.

Colonial Encounters and the Shift in Cosmopolitan Paradigms

The colonial period introduced new dynamics. Western imperial powers imposed political borders, introduced Western legal and educational systems, and propagated secular ideas. Muslim communities faced challenges to their traditional cosmopolitan visions, leading to the emergence of reformist movements that sought to redefine Muslim identity in response to modernity. Within this context, rival visions began to emerge:

- Reformist Modernists: Advocated for engagement with Western sciences, education, and legal systems while maintaining core Islamic principles.
- Traditionalists: Aimed to preserve classical Islamic knowledge and practices, resisting Western influence.
- Nationalists and Secularists: Emphasized nation-building and often promoted secular, inclusive identities over religious particularism.

These historical shifts laid the groundwork for ongoing debates about the nature of a cosmopolitan Muslim society in Asia.

Contemporary Manifestations of

Rival Cosmopolitanisms

In contemporary Muslim societies across Asia, rival cosmopolitan visions are visible in politics, education, religious discourse, and cultural expression.

State-Driven Cosmopolitanism

Some governments promote a version of cosmopolitanism aligned with national identity and modernization. Examples include: - Singapore: Emphasizes multiculturalism and pragmatic engagement with global markets, fostering a cosmopolitan yet state-controlled environment. - Malaysia: Balances Islamic identity with economic globalization, often promoting "Islam Hadhari" ("Civilizational Islam") as a modern, inclusive vision. - Indonesia: Embraces pluralism as a national ethos, integrating Islamic values with democratic governance and international engagement. These state-sponsored visions often strive to reconcile religious identity with economic development and international diplomacy, emphasizing a form of moderate or inclusive cosmopolitanism.

Religious and Intellectual Currents

Within Muslim communities, competing ideas of cosmopolitanism are expressed through religious movements, educational institutions, and media. -

Globalized Salafism: Advocates a purist, often transnational, form of Islam that emphasizes returning to early Islamic practices. It seeks to create a cosmopolitan network of like-minded adherents while rejecting Western cultural influences. - Progressive

Muslim Movements: Promote reinterpretations of Islamic teachings that emphasize gender equality, human rights, and engagement with modern sciences, often aligning with liberal cosmopolitan ideals. -

Traditional Sufi Orders: Continue to promote spiritual openness, intercultural dialogue, and religious tolerance, embodying a pluralistic form of cosmopolitanism rooted in spiritual brotherhood.

Educational and Cultural Expressions

Educational institutions and cultural productions serve as battlegrounds for competing cosmopolitan visions: -

Universities offering Western-style curricula coexist with Islamic seminaries emphasizing traditional knowledge. - Media outlets and social media platforms facilitate transnational religious networks, fostering debates over authentic Islamic identity versus modern adaptations. - Literature, art, and fashion reflect hybrid identities, blending traditional Islamic aesthetics with contemporary global trends.

The Politics of Rivalry: Power, Identity, and Globalization

The competition between different cosmopolitanisms is not merely academic; it has tangible political implications.

Nation-State and Religious Authority

- Governments often promote a form of state-sanctioned cosmopolitanism to legitimize authority and project an image of moderation. - Religious leaders and movements challenge state narratives, advocating for a version of Islam that aligns with their visions of cosmopolitan engagement.

Globalization and Transnational Networks

- Transnational Islamic networks, such as the Muslim Brotherhood or Salafi groups, exemplify rival cosmopolitan visions operating across borders. -

Digital media amplifies these debates, allowing diverse voices to contest and redefine what it means to be a cosmopolitan Muslim in Asia.

Security and Political Stability

- Radical factions rejecting pluralistic cosmopolitanism pose security threats, complicating state efforts to promote moderate, inclusive visions. - Conversely, embracing certain cosmopolitan ideals—such as religious tolerance and cultural diversity—can foster social cohesion but may challenge traditional authority structures.

Impacts and Implications

The rivalry among cosmopolitanisms influences various facets of Muslim societies in Asia: - Cultural Identity: Diverse visions lead to hybrid identities that challenge monolithic notions of Muslim authenticity. - Social Cohesion: Contestations over cosmopolitan values can exacerbate social divisions or foster dialogue and understanding. - Policy and Governance: Governments grapple with balancing religious pluralism, secularism, and modern development goals. - Global Engagement: Competing visions shape how Muslim societies participate in international forums, influence global Islamic discourse, and engage with Western and non-Western powers.
