Origins and Historical Context

Post-Confederation Canada and Literary Nationalism

Following the confederation of Canada in 1867, there was a burgeoning desire among Canadian writers and intellectuals to cultivate a distinct national identity. The late 19th century was marked by efforts to define what it meant to be Canadian culturally and literarily. The Confederation Group of Canadian Poets emerged during this period, driven by the aspiration to elevate Canadian poetry to an international standard while celebrating local themes, landscapes, and experiences.

The group coalesced around 1880, largely through the efforts of poets and literary enthusiasts who believed that Canadian poetry should reflect the country's unique environment, history, and aspirations. They sought to create a platform for poets to share ideas, critique each other's work, and promote Canadian themes in poetry. Although formal membership was not rigid, the core figures associated with the Confederation Group include prominent poets such as Charles G. D. Roberts, Bliss Carman, and Archibald Lampman.
